The Khan Academy began when Salman Khan was called upon to assist a relative with homework. Since he was on the west coast and the relative was on the east coast he decided to prepare and send short videos to explain and demonstrate difficult concepts to his relative in an easy to understand narrative with visual cues. One thing led to another and he realized that he could help others in the same way. Eventually he started Khan Academy, a website stocked with over 4,000 short videos ( <http://www.khanacademy.org/library>) to explain many concepts and skills in math, physics, finance, and history and hundreds of skills to practice to help you learn what you want, when you want, at your own pace.

The Khan Academy is a donor-supported not-for-profit. The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, Ann & John Doerr, the O'Sullivan Foundation, Reed Hastings, Google, and the Windsong Trust are just some of the organizations that support the Khan Academy.
